

Instruction is generally geared toward use of a DSLR camera, wide-angle and telephoto lenses (or zoom that covers both), a tripod and cable release, circular polarizing filter and laptop or tablet with image-processing software.

All cameras including cell phones and film cameras are welcome—though anyone shooting film will not be able to process, print or share those images.

In general, I'm a believer in packing light and limiting the gear you carry.